TIME . . .

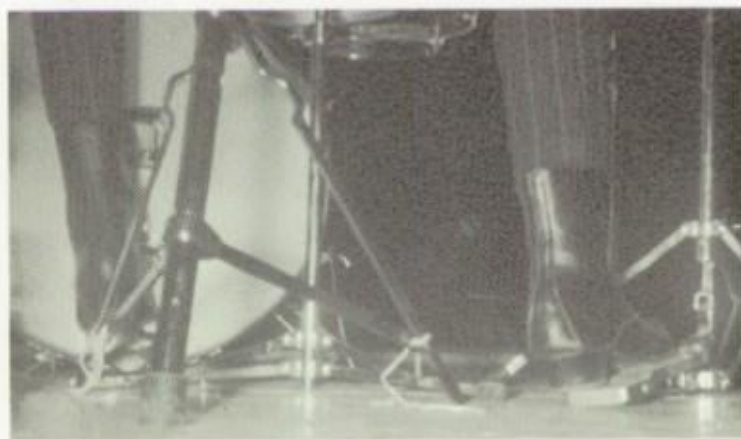

To get the most out of life we must take time to live as well as to make a living. We must practice the art of filling our moments with enriching experiences that will give new meaning and depth to our lives.

We should take time for good books; time to absorb the thoughts of poets and philosophers, seers and prophets . . .

. . . time for music that washes away from the soul the dust of everyday life . . .

. . . time for friendships . . .

. . . time for talks by the fire and walks beneath the stars . . .

... time for nature; time for flower gardens, trees, birds, and sunsets ...

. . . time for people; time for the interplay of personalities and the interchange of ideas . . .

... time for solitude ...

... time to be quiet and alone and to look within ...

. . . time to give of ourselves, our talents, abilities, devotions, convictions,

that we may contribute to the onward march of man.

PETERSON

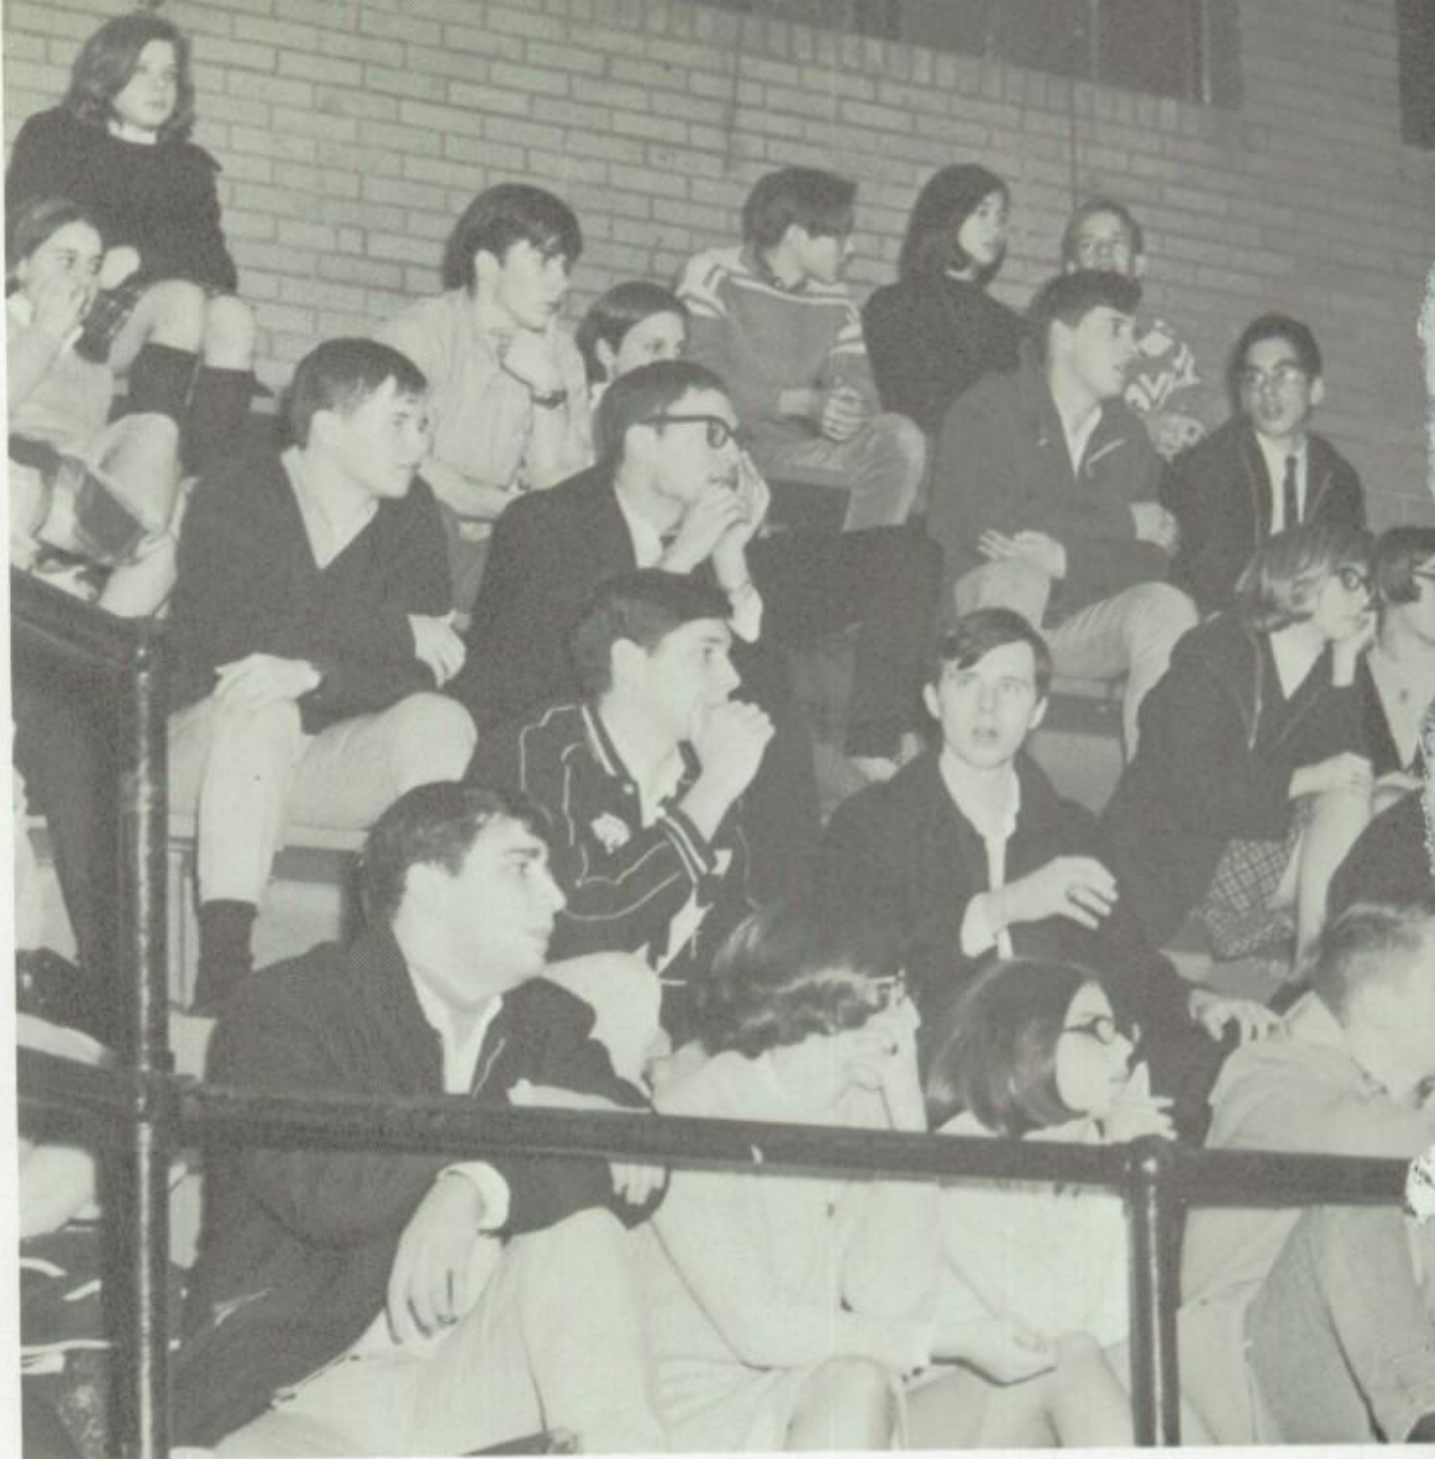

Dedication

We, the Class of 1967, gratefully dedicate this yearbook to Mr. Richard B. Weir. He, more than any other, has given us the simple gifts of real interest, kindness and understanding. Perhaps the greatest tribute we can pay is to remember him in the future, not just as a good teacher, but as a man who is our friend.

"Diane"; always happy; her perpetual giggle; "I'm on a diet"; "Ya need a ride?" Dear John; "I'll call you tonight" a friend you can count on; always kicking around; can be seen with Pam.

ALAN WILLIAM WHITE

"God's gift to mischief, the devil's gift to silence!"

Willie, "Twirp"; When Irish eyes are smiling; one of the original Gold Dust Twins; honorary cheerleader; always arguing with the Teddy Bear; class hacker; frequents F.N.P.C.—never loses; seen in the caddy with Leon—a future owner of the world.

RUTH ANN WHITE

"There's a mischievous twinkle in her eye."

"DeDe"; original go-go girl; that long blond hair; Pelham's answer to Lady Godiva, one of the 6th street crowd.

CAMPBELL WARREN WHITFORD

"As the people heard the sound of the trumpet, the people raised a great shout."

"Cam", "Zeke" . . . "you dirty old man!" Seen with a certain blonde freshman; Pelham's answer to Al Hirt; Will he ever get rid of that gray Ford? future writer for Mad; loves food!

BARBARA WILKIE

"Colombia, gem of the ocean."

"Barb", "Wilkie", "Bachi"; speaks Spanish with a Scottish accent; the Americanization of . . .; "Americans are in such a rush!" The Friday night quartet; a hockey prodigee; basketball pro; constant dieting; surprised by the village; "Lovely earrings, Barb" "Thanks They're Meg's."

MARY PAMELA WINN

"To know is nothing at all; to imagine is everything."

"Pam", "Pammie", "Peeps"; Pretty hair, no matter which color; "I'm not in the mood"; girl with the green eyes; strums away on her guitar.

ELLEN RUTH WINSLOW

"In the twinkling of an eye."

"Ellie", "Penelope"; Busy Bee at New Rochelle High; fights with a computer? BOCES early bird; what's the attraction in uniform? look out for those eyes; a real clown at heart; an unlicensed "swinger."

IRENE RUTH WONG

"If friendliness were fire, she would own the sun."

"Irene", "Reenie" sweetness plus; G.O. secretary; the G.O. office—her home away from home; Carnival; where's Herbie? our own "Jade East" girl.

BARBARA MICHAEL WYATT

"Whilst I yet live, let me not live in vain."

"Mike", "Michelle"; "Cherry Pie"; unmistakable smirk; converted to a true Pelhamite in three weeks; yea, team—cough, cough! petit, but; "E Pluribus Pie"; where did her megaphone go? How many pairs of loafers does she have? boogaloo dancer.

LESLIE RENEE YOUNG

"An ounce of wit is worth a pound of sorrow."

"Leslie", "Les", "Eve"; Giant fan from way back; never-ending supply of suits; 'bombs' up to Providence if he's not here; Pelham's grooviest go-go girl; "I am going to let my hair grow"; expressive eyes and a perpetual smile.

GAIL LYNN ZAUDERER

"Devil or Angel . . . she can't make up her mind."

"Jed", "Zelda", "Sam"; wild personality; those eyes! one of the four; Infectious giggle; plays a mean guitar; does Huancayo rhyme with coke? alright, who moved the Tappan Zee? she got drenched in a water fight with Bubbles; super-friendly; runs The Pink Panther.

7th grade: We entered the institution of high school, mystified and as insignificant as grains of sand in an hourglass, but confident of our place in society. Circle pins, white socks, and the twist reigned supreme. We fought the good fight in Miss Quimby's Math 7 classes and survived Mrs. Mayer's threats to jump out of the window or have a sit-down strike in the wastepaper basket.

8th grade: Our second installment of school life seemed much like the first, except now, we, too, were entitled to think that seventh graders were getting shorter every year. There were the usual IQ tests, parties, problems, and life-and-death crises that accompany being in eighth grade. The days of school went quickly, because we had no sense of time and its passing. 1962-1963 was divided only into seasons for us.

9th grade: We, the Class of 1967, made the big step up into the Senior High. Somehow we felt cheated; the leadership of the Junior High G.O. was passed over us. (A good idea, some thought.) The Beatles struck their immortal blow for England in a new revolution. The skiing bug also caught us as we headed for the slopes of Hunter and Killington. The new wing amazed us, as did the rest of the "almost finished" building. It seemed like the school day was shorter with only seventeen periods! The tragedy of November 22 left us a little older and a little wiser as we floated into the next year.

10th grade: Another period, and we didn't get out until 3:20. The boys were sore from the sessions with Mr. Blake, and the Open House was bombed out. There was music and real food in the cafeteria under the reign of Lord Jim. We made Biggs president for life, and discovered the joys of the skateboard, long hair on anyone, and levis. The girls looked to the senior and junior boys, and the boys—well, they just looked . . . A sudden flood of permits and jr. licenses made the roads hazardous, but the mighty sophomores still ventured out. The year was climaxed by an overcast, but wild outing.

11th grade: The band went to Michigan and Shea Stadium. McDonalds forever! High college boards became the goal of our lives. Madras parkas went out, and CPO's came in. Having an undefeated football team didn't help too much, but all we could do was wait to go into action. Elio's was unbelievable! Winter saw the rise of the Chinese Bandits and hordes of schussboomers on the slopes. We found unity in the Prom, and made Gigi queen of the deep. A few guys at Congo's and the F.N.P.C. was born. Winners and losers on the Chem trip, and an outing to top the seniors.

IN IN IR IE TT IR O S IP IE G T

12th grade: We entered quietly, not quite believing that at last we were on top. Soon, however, we were in high gear, storming the deli (and other places) and getting stuffed on bar-b-cue chips. We cheered valiantly at football games, and lost our minds at Mannelli's parties. With Beez, Chip, Irene, and Jeff at the helm, the G.O. even secured a student lounge, for seniors first! Midnight sessions with Terry at the Diner, double English, and-ulp-college applications. We all went caroling at Christmas, and caught a bad case of Senioritis in January. Out to make out Pelham #1 in the country . . . No Amateur Show, but we made up for it at the Junior Prom . . . "Let's have a riot" . . . Fighting parents, prudery, and a lack of money, we cleared a path towards June, and beyond that, the world.

THE GAME

My girl friend at boarding school never came to the football games although I was the star of the team. Yet it wasn't that she didn't want to see me hurt, or didn't like the brutality, or was just bored by the game. I know that because every afternoon she watched us practice from her room next to the field.

It was always quiet on the campus in the afternoons. The only sounds were made by the players or the coach. Sometimes all the noise would stop when I broke away with the ball and ran for the goal. Then our cleats on the grass sounded like the pounding of horse's hooves on the turf. I could tell by the sound whether another man would catch me or not. The sudden silence told me he had launched himself into the air. I could feel the power of our bodies as he tried to drag me down, and I to forge onward. I liked that part of the game best. It was a contest of strength, a place where I could really work, and feel the result, and know that I had done something.

I really don't care about winning. Most people don't believe what the coach says about it not mattering whether you win or lose, but how you play the game; but I do. We had the best team in the league that year and were undefeated so far. If the coach hadn't put the second string in a lot we could have scored as much as eighty points in some games. Most of the kids at the school were mad at the coach for that. Sometimes they asked me if I weren't mad too "because we could really clobber them then". I said I wasn't. I don't see the point of just making points. That's really why we had such a good team. I liked to fight. We went for the other teams' strong points. We didn't give our game to chance by aiming for their weak points, or making a play and hoping for luck. We were powerful enough to overcome them with power. Or maybe it was that the rest of my team transferred their hate for me to the other team. Anyway, that's the kind of game I liked.

I think she got excited about the game, although she never said anything to me about it. Anyway, it was not in the way other people get excited, because she never did anything the way other people did. But she used to watch practice even before I knew her, and that may be the reason we did meet. I don't know. I don't know about anything she did. She was so far beyond me.

She went around almost in another world. She was much like a goddess. Everyone was aware of her existence, the boys especially. They wanted to help her, or talk to her, or to know her. They thought she was weak and needed help. But she was stronger than any of them. They held back from her as if in fear, and she paid no attention to anyone. Then she chose me.

I couldn't figure her out. We went together for about a year. She was always knocking the way other kids acted. I agreed with her mostly, because they had never done anything for me. But we talked about other things too, and sometimes we didn't talk at all. Sometimes when we were together I would see something click behind her pale-blue, usually empty-looking eyes, then she would explain something some teacher had talked about weeks before, something that she had not understood at the time. It usually did not make any sense to me even after she had explained it, but it did often enough to make me know that she had something.

I know she wasn't like everyone else, but I can't explain what happened. I know a lot of the kids at the school were against me because I did everything so well. I am not a genius or a great athlete or anything, but for a while I had the right combination, and everything I did was right. Somehow that turned everyone against me. That defeated me and made me forget the combination. I knew there was no one on my side, except her.

I think it is mostly her fault, anyway. You can't be Top and a non-conformist too, at least that is how it seemed. By associating with her I set myself apart. I had what they wanted and everything else as well. She told me not to let them defeat me. But how can a person fight the will of a whole society of people who are ostensibly his friends? They wanted me down. But she wanted me to stand and hold against them.

Then they broke my knees. That was after I started losing in the classroom, and they knew they had me. It's not that they wanted to break my knees, but they tried so hard to get me down on that practice field, that that is what eventually happened. And then she walked out on me.

But I can't believe that it was just because I was down. I could get back up again. And she wasn't like everyone else. She wasn't against me before when everyone else was. But why? I just don't know.

THE INVITATION

I'd love to go to the Prom with you

(As much as I'd like to catch the flu)

Oh how nice! Dinner at the Pickwick

(That restaurant makes me sick)

Oh yes, I just adore rosebuds

(I'd just as soon have potato spuds)

Oh, I really can't wait

(The whole idea makes me faint)

Then, I'll see you Saturday night.

(No, suicide just isn't right.)

A ROOM

I am quite sure that most teenagers think very little of their rooms, except as a place to sleep, do homework, read, and, if lucky enough (or spoiled enough), watch television. Perhaps I am more sensitive than most members of my age group, or perhaps I am just a good observer. I say this because I have found that my room is my own Heaven-on-earth.

It's not a large room, nor would it bring a lump to an interior decorator's throat. But it is mine, my own creation, my salvation. As I look around the room, I see a bed, a desk, a bureau with a medium-sized mirror, a bookcase filled with books and topped with a few trophies. I see a closet, I see a record player and albums, I see my guitar hanging by its strap on the wall. I see these things plainly, and anyone who has seen my room will substantiate my findings. Ah, but I, only I, see much more, much, oh so much more! I see myself.

My room has seen more game-winning home runs by a young teenage Yankee ballplayer, more game-saving catches by the same boy, more television and radio and movie appearances, more re-enactments of parts of plays and movies, and more awards and presentations than can be imagined. Oh, my room has heard a boy sing, sometimes well, sometimes poorly; my room has heard a boy do impressions of well-known people and mimic comics' routines heard from humorous albums. My room has heard a boy laugh. My room has heard a boy cry.

My parents must have wild notions as to what goes on in their son's room. Is he singing along with The Fantasticks album? Is that he swearing? I wonder if he smokes up there? I wonder what makes those thuds on the floor?—(Don't they know I've just won the championship basketball game?) I wonder what else my son does up there in that room with the closed door? What? WHAT?

Oh, parents, you could never guess! NEVER! In this generation of mine, I have discovered that I cannot communicate with you, nor with my companions. Don't you see? My room is mine, my refuge from a mixed-up world that has mixed me up . . . I need unmixing. In my room, creations more fantastic than any novel or biography or circus or play or movie can be mine. I can converse with the only person who I know knows me and loves me and respects me and tries his hardest to understand me: that is ME. Don't think we never argue. But don't think we'll ever part. OH! The only other thing that I can confide in and trust in is my room, the walls. (Last night, I heard them discussing me and weeping.)

Oh, room, don't ever leave me, as I will not leave you, ever! We understand each other and love each other. Thank you for listening to me. You are very patient. I will always remember you, as you will me. I will always see you watching over my insignificant belongings, all insignificant except that foul of Mickey Mantle's that I caught this past spring. I bet Mick loves his room, too!

No, I've never met anyone like you, room, and, somehow I don't think I ever will. Ah, Bartleby! Ah, Humanity!

A WINTER'S DAY

A tree, bare twisted limbs,

Writhing in an occasional gust of wind.

The heavy, grey sky,
The cold damp earth—

Sending a perpetual chill through my body.

No life could be seen, or heard, or felt—

No fleeing squirrels,
No chirping birds,
No warmth from the sun.

A day without color, only black, or grey, or white.

Houses—silent
Traffic—slow
People—sleepy
Time—suspended

This year Pelham Memorial High School's Senior General Organization, under the leadership of Bob Glendening, has attempted to more efficiently carry out its functions by working through various subcommittees. This has proved to be a good idea, for the G.O. is now well-organized and running smoothly.

Chip Ukena, who as Vice-President is in charge of the Student Court, appointed Martin Kase head of the Student Court Committee.

Martin, Chip, and the judges have done a fine job, although they have been somewhat hampered by their lack of any real authority in regard to disciplinary measures.

Secretary Irene Wong has been a steady worker; she has worked closely with Mr. Russell and has also handled all G.O. correspondence. Jeff Kurtze, our mathematically-minded treasurer, has balanced the books and also managed ticket-selling at all of our home sports activities.

Student Court

Chief Justice Paul Ukena and chairman Martin Kase worked this year toward making the Student Court a more effective part of our school government. The Court convened more informally, for one thing, enabling the judges to become more familiar with the facts of each case. As each case was considered on an individual basis, the Court hoped any punishment would be especially appropriate.

G.O. Service Club

Chairman: Kathy Broderick

The G.O. Service Club, a division of Martin Kase's Concession Committee, has been under the direction of Kathy Broderick. The club members could be seen at every school function—football games, basketball games, and G.O. dances—manning the ticket and refreshment stands. The student lounge, in the lunchroom after school, was also run by Service Club members. In all, the G.O. Service Club has had a very active year.

BOCES

BOCES is a vocational-educational program run by the Board of Co-operative Educational Service (BOCES). Pelham and fourteen other small county schools have grouped under it to provide students with special vocational opportunities.

The forty five students now enrolled in the program receive two credits for their BOCES training, as well as one credit for each course they're taking at school.

Pelhamites leave the school at 7:30 every morning for a half-day at Valhalla, Elmsford, or White Plains, where centers are located.

PEL MEL

This year the Pel Mel staff continued to present the school with a lively and interesting paper. Often trying to express student opinion and presenting different sides to school problems, the editors attempted to include thought-provoking discussions.

Co-editors Carol Card and Denis Fitzpatrick and assistant editor Roger Jackson worked hard on each issue of the Pel Mel. As always, Mr. Richard Lacey, faculty advisor, was of immeasurable value in providing ideas. Under his direction, the new staff members learned to write leads and headlines and to correct galleys. The guidance of Mr. Lacey and the efforts of the entire staff helped to make the paper informative and effective.

A.F.S.

A.F.S. Student: Barbara Wilkie

The A.F.S. Club convened this year under the able direction of Mr. Weir. Many students from many places, some unheard of, were present. Representatives from Greece, England, Chile, Mexico, Colombia, Denmark, South Africa, and Japan numbered many more than one might think could be present. Barbara Wilkie, the official A.F.S. student from Colombia was present also. The club meets roughly once a month and enjoys a show put on by someone who has traveled abroad. Mr. McConnochie has shown wonderful slides of his trip around the world with the Seven Seas University. Jay Berkowitz has entertained the members with interesting sidelights of Mexico, where he visited the previous summer with a group. Mrs. Marie Merskey gave them a picture trip through South Africa, which has been her home for many years. It also included many fantastic shots of wild animals taken from a gamekeeper's lodge. Not all the members of the A.F.S. Club have lived outside America, but all share a common interest: fun and understanding of the world today through travel.

A.F.S. Representatives

Knight and Lamp

Tom Mannle, Pres.; Bill Ioris, Vice-Pres.; Kim Craig, Sec.; Peter Laufer, Treas.

"... to develop intellectual curiosity, to further independent study, to recognize outstanding scholarship within the student body, and to perform such services as will aid the school in general."

These are the goals of Knight and Lamp, the school's honor society. This year the members carried on its traditions in such services as acting as guides for lost parents at Open House and the voluntary tutoring program.

Miss Ellen Lav and Mr. Joseph Patrick acted as faculty advisors.

SPANISH HONOR SOCIETY

The Spanish National Honor Society of the Federico Garcia Lorca chapter was formed this year with eleven members. Tutoring was again the major project of the society, but this year help was only provided for first, second, and third year students.

Under the leadership of Mr. Joseph Markot, who introduced the Spanish Honor Society to Pelham in 1962, a successful initiation of nineteen members was held on March 14. At that time, the new members received a certificate and signed the official roster.

Red Cross

This year the Red Cross came out of its shell. Under Mrs. Lucey's guidance, the officers, Martin Kase, President; Eleanor Cerbone, Vice-President; Janet DeMarco, Secretary; and Gail Zauderer, Treasurer; made "The Impossible Gathering" possible. But they were still able to be serious about business as usual.

The officers attended a "Leadership Training Center" in October with the Red Cross officers from other Westchester high schools. In January, there was Martin's speech at an assembly, "The Impossible Gathering," and the starting of the Disaster Chest.

Library Staff

This year's staff of about thirty students was led by Brenda Stevens, President; Edna Ferguson, Vice-President; Claire Doyle, Secretary; and Don Gould, Treasurer. Besides the usual jobs of helping at the desk and shelving books, the staff also worked on projects with Westchester Student Library Assistants, of which Brenda is also the president. This program included a book sale to earn money for the organization's scholarship fund, trips to other libraries in Westchester and New York City, and reading to handicapped children at Grasslands Hospital.

H. Schoeler, Pres.; M. Kach, Vice-Pres.; T. Pisano, Sec.; J. Capossela, Treas.

The Varsity Club, under the leadership of President Hank Schoeler, has provided outstanding service for the school this year. In addition to the fine jobs the club members did in supervising football and basketball games, two enterprises stand out.

With the assistance of faculty advisor, Mr.

Curtis Blake, the Varsity Club put on the entertainment at the annual pep rally, and in March sponsored the annual Student-Faculty basketball game.

In June, the club plans to sponsor the Varsity Dinner, begun last year, for all those who have earned their varsity letters.

J. Wayne, Pres.; P. Staubach, Vice-Pres.; M. Kirchner, Sec.; M. Clarke, Treas.

During its third year, the Girls' Athletic Association continued with established programs and added some new ones. Membership cards were sold in the fall for twenty five cents, and representatives from each gym class were picked to read notices of GAA news to their class. Also at this time, managers for different sports were chosen to represent the clubs and arrange for honor squad games. A new service which was started was a Saturday morning Basketball clinic run by high school girls to help seventh and eighth graders. This idea may be expanded to other sports.

In the spring the point system committee determined the awards to be given at the Annual Mother-Daughter Tea in June.

VARSITY AND JUNIOR VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

The Cheerleading squad, under the direction of co-captains Gigi Arnau and Margie McLellan, lent its enthusiasm to the crowds and teams during Pelham's 1966-67 football and basketball season. Their "undrenchable" spirit kept them on their feet during many rainy football games. Their exuberance after the final game's victory spilled over into basketball season and it was hard keeping them on the benches at the games.

During practice seasons the creative ones added new techniques to spice up the old standing cheers, while all added versatility and a willingness to try something new. The hardest thing, however, wasn't learning the cheers, but getting to practice on time. The eight o'clock rush was a real hazard to any slow moving pedestrian, when cheerleaders indulged in their favorite game—"Beat the Clock".

Spring brought its masses of hopeful cheerleaders-to-be to take the place of tearfully departing Seniors. As their final service, the Peppy Twelve served as waitresses at the Varsity Club dinner.

This was the second year for a J.V. Cheerleading squad. Along with mounting spirit grew their responsibilities, and they not only cheered at football games, but relieved the Varsity Cheerleaders at J.V. basketball games.

Both squads were guided and encouraged by Miss Phillips during the football season. With the coming of basketball, Miss Phillips took her sabbatical and the job of Cheerleading advisor was taken over by Miss Rubin.

Lisa Nanna, Capt.; Ellen Capozzoli, Co-capt.

TWIRLERS

The twirlers sparkled as the Pelham High School Marching Band "took" the field in the 1966 half-time entertainments. Precision-perfect routines and smiling faces held the crowds in the stands, whether the games were home or away. New routines to strains of "Mame", "A Taste of Honey", and "Heat Wave" were forever being created in the mind of Captain Lisa Nanna, and materialized during summer practice sessions. More practice on weekday mornings and before games added to the excellence of each Saturday performance. Who can forget the happiness over our final game victory, when the Twirlers joined the Cheerleaders to become the Pelham Rockettes?

The year also brought a very unique experience to the Twirlers. They participated in an exhibition of Italian Medieval Art at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. It would have been hard to recognize the girls dressed in costumes of the period and twirling, not batons, but flags. Their versatility came through, though, and the excellent show added another honor to Pelham High School as well as the Twirlers themselves.

Math Team

The Pelham Memorial High School Mathematics Team is a member of the Westchester Mathematics league, and is in competition with other area schools. This year the league is divided into three divisions based on enrollment, which gives Pelham an excellent chance of placing very near the top. Strong performers Jeff Kurtze, currently second highest scorer in the county, and Mike Abraham, with the help of seniors Chip Ukena, Pete Laufer, Jim McKeever, and Lisa Massia may yet place Pelham's team first in the county.

German Club

Die Lustigen Pelikaner (or "the club for happy Pelicans who speak German") met informally every other week. Under the leadership of Gene Stone, Pres.; Craig Neelsen, Vice-Pres.; Carol Conti, Sec.; and Ralph Engle, Treas. the twelve members played games, sang songs, and saw films in German. In February, they had a German Mardi Gras called Taschingsball, and later on they planned to go to a German restaurant.

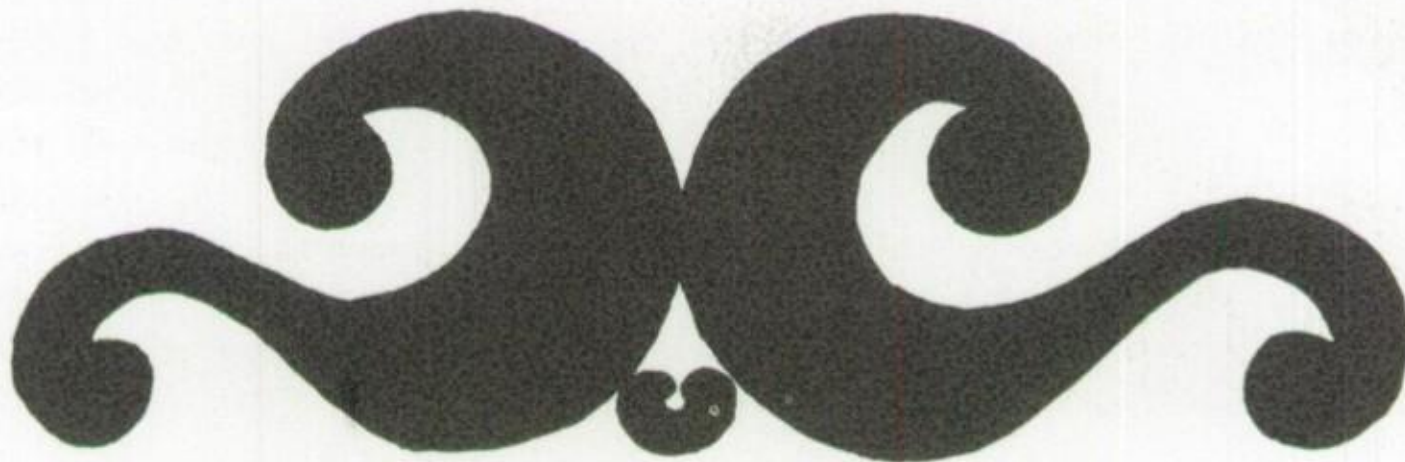

Biology Club

The Biology Club, sponsored by Mr. Reynolds, was led this year by Bill Holman, pres.; Bill Ballard, vice-pres.; and Mimi Pomeroy, sec. The club consists of fifteen students, mostly freshmen and sophomores, who meet every Monday in Room 250. Some of the most meaningful and exciting experiments were in the areas of dissection, radiology, chromatology, and bacteriology. The club planned to hold a picnic for members in the spring.

This club is designed to augment the usual class of biology with interesting areas of study, which could not be covered in regular class time for those with scientific curiosities.

Riding Club

This year the riding club, though smaller than usual, was just as enthusiastic as ever. The club was divided into three groups: Monday and Tuesday were set aside for beginners, while the jumpers met on Thursday. They rode at Saddle Tree Farms owned by the Petrulas's, who graciously conveyed them at the appointed times to and from the school. Not only do the members get to ride, they get instruction in riding and caring for the horses. There are four Horse Shows annually in which everyone participates. There is never a dull moment, and even though there are a few falls here and there, everyone has a wonderful time.

Audio-Visual

Since the importance of use of A-V equipment has increased, members of the A-V club have been busy. During specified study halls, the members of the club service and operate projectors and other aids. Under the supervision of Mr. Christison, the club is in its second year.

Nurse's Aides

The Nurse's Aide organization is a volunteer service which helps Mrs. Battista. They learn to take temperature, administer icepacks, give vision tests, file, administer basic first aid, and also contribute their hands and ideas to the monthly health bulletin.

Mrs. Battista, the school nurse, is convinced she couldn't run her office without them to help her.

SOCK & BUSKIN

The story on Sock & Buskin for 1967 begins in June 1966. "Tryouts for the first play of the next year are this afternoon." Some of the sixty parts were cast and the work began. All summer designs for sets and costumes were made and discarded and remade. Mr. Morgan, Miss Conte, and Mr. Gianguzzi put in a summer and a half and still the hard part of the work remained.

The fall came and so did the opening of school but the play's work kept on. More casting . . . more designs . . . build that platform . . . Is there room for another . . .? Mr. Morgan, do we have to go to the front . . .? Chetch, fix that light . . . Howie, where are the sound cues . . .?

Finally, in December, it was ready.

Blue Bird has many firsts for the Drama Society, among them the first special performance for the elementary schools, and the largest cast in a P.M.H.S. production.

Everyone who saw it agreed that the costumes, make-up (many taking several hours to put on and take off), scenery and acting were great. Many cast and crew members formed "The Union", Local #738.

In January, elections were held and Denis Fitzpatrick, Bob MacMillan, Norine DiCarlo and Mike Minette respectively became Pres., Vice-Pres., and Treas.

Tryouts soon began for the second play of the season; a mystery THE MAN by Mel Dinelli. The future holds a continuation of last year's highly successful Sock & Buskin workshop.

MADRIGAL CHORUS

Madrigal Chorus was formed this year under the direction of Miss Oskern. The group, consisting of about sixty students in the ninth through twelfth grades, sings a variety of songs. As the name implies, the group specializes in Madrigals, simple non-secular songs of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries.

Madrigal Chorus made its debut at the Spring Concert and it also performed at the various elementary schools during the spring.

CANZONETTES

Canzonettes is a small group of singers who were chosen from Madrigal Chorus. They met every Tuesday afternoon with Miss Oskern to practice special songs and arrangements. They accompany Madrigal Chorus, singing with the larger chorus and alone.

This was the first year for both Madrigal Chorus and Canzonettes, and because of the warm acceptance they received, they will continue next year.

CHORUS

ORCHESTRA

Under the direction of Mr. Madden, the P.M.H.S. orchestra provides for those interested in a different type of group from bands. This group includes the stringed instruments: the violins, violas, cellos, and basses, which are not found in the band.

Although classical music is readily available to the orchestra, lighter compositions such as the works of Leroy Anderson and the work "Victory at Sea" are part of the program as well.

Together with the junior orchestra, which serves as training for those with less experience, the Orchestra provides opportunities available nowhere else in P.M.H.S. to our student musicians.

DANCE BAND

This musical group is organized as an extracurricular activity, therefore it draws those whose interest in music runs higher than the average. The material played by this group includes the "big band" numbers familiar to our parents, as well as pieces in the modern jazz vein. The trumpets, trombones, saxes, bass, guitar, drums, and piano under the direction of Mr. Rocco "The Rock" Polera play music designed for those who enjoy their "sounds" with more "soul," and can play them.

SENIOR BAND

Composed of wind instrument players in grades 9-12, and under the direction of Mr. Rocco Polera, the Senior Band serves to acquaint its members with many varied types of music. During the football season, the band takes the field as the Marching Band, supplying entertainment in their halftime shows. When the football season ends, the band moves indoors to become the Concert Band, and performs such works as the Haydn Trumpet Concerto and selections from "Man of La Mancha." This year, besides the usual three seasonal concerts, the Concert Band is travelling to Utica to play a special guest concert in March.

JUNIOR BAND

This group serves as a training ground for the Senior Band. As students enter the Junior High, this band acquaints them with the band instrumentation, different from the orchestras in the elementary schools. Under the baton of Mr.

Polera, these younger students become familiar with basic band literature and improve in ability and compatibility to the group, with the ultimate goal of moving into the Senior Band when they become Senior High students.

Jr. G.O.

The Student Government of the Junior High is under the leadership of the Junior General Organization. Among its many activities, the Junior G.O. has successfully monitored the cafeteria and printed the Junior G.O. Newsletter.

Two parties were given in the course of the year for the eighth grade, featuring live bands and go-go girls. The seventh graders also had a party in the fall in which the homerooms competed in sports activities for a free trip to a Varsity football game.

JR. NEWSLETTER

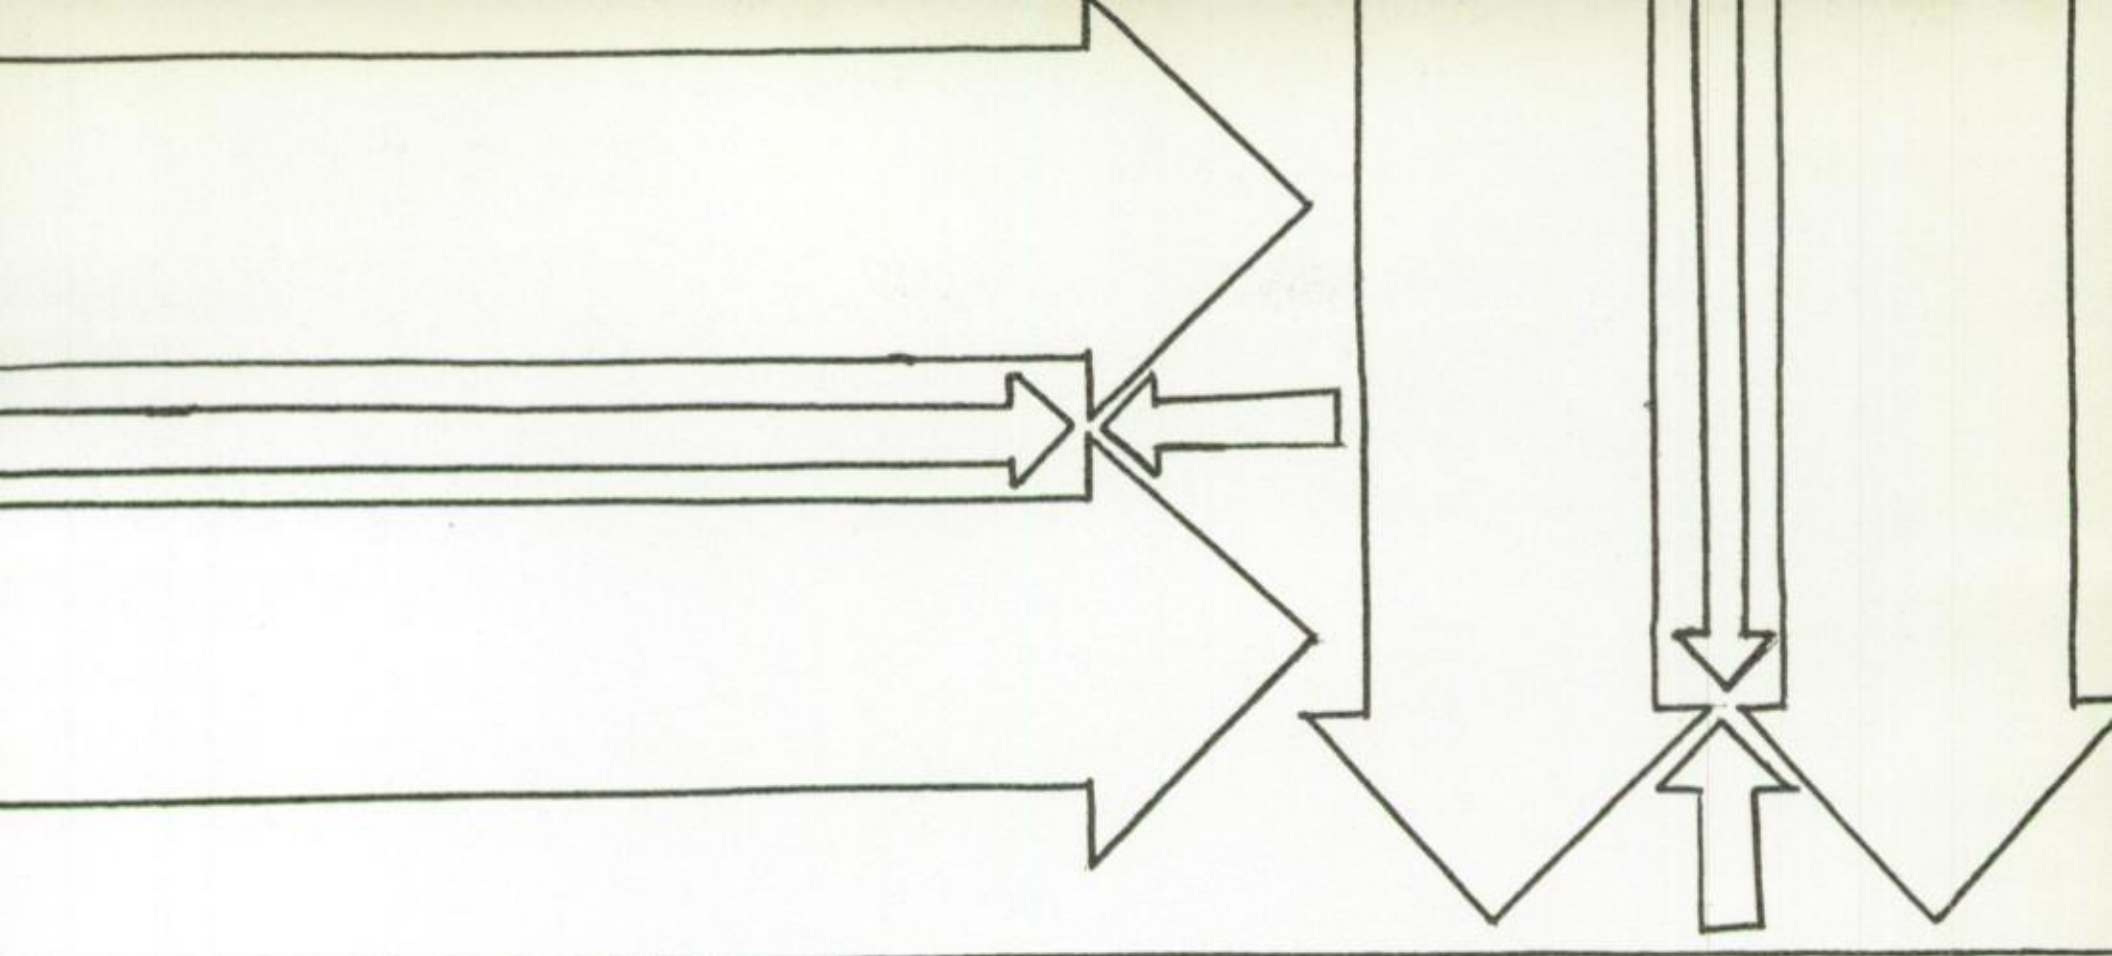

The Junior High Newsletter, which is distributed to the seventh and eighth grades, is under the able guidance of Miss Bette Johnson. The Newsletter, which is published at appropriate intervals, tells the Junior High about past events and future happenings. The Newsletter's editors, who are members of the eighth grade, are chosen by Miss Johnson.

Jr. Science Club

The Junior High Science Club, under the supervision of Mr. Schmeichel, consists of a group of seventh and eighth graders. These knowledge-hungry students spend club time going beyond the ordinary for enlightenment.

Jr. Spanish Club

J. Brazell, Pres.; M. Henningsen, Vice-Pres.; G. Hope, Sec.

This year's Junior High Spanish Club was organized under the direction of Mrs. Bussatti. The club consists of seventh and eighth graders taking Spanish I.

The club seeks to expand its members' ability in Spanish as well as learning the culture of Latin America and other Spanish speaking areas. The club meets one Thursday a month.

Art Club

The Junior High Art Club is conducted by Mr. Murrone on a very informal basis. The members, whose number varies from week to week, work on independent projects unconnected with class assignments. It is hoped that the members will realize the vast scope of opportunity in the field of art.

Shop Club

Mr. Mango and Mr. Karczmit co-sponsor the Shop Club. It is comprised mainly of Junior High boys since these are the students in the shop courses, but the club is open to the entire student body. The members work on projects of their special interests, in either shop, often constructing models for the use of other departments.

Jr. History Club

The Junior High History Club provides an opportunity for seventh and eighth graders to partake in debates and discussions on topics reflecting modern thinking. Mr. Messina moderates these meetings, providing authoritative information in addition to relative order. Touched upon have been issues such as Communism, Viet Nam, Civil Rights, and Labor Relations. In the fall, the group visited the United Nations.

Swimming Club

Under the supervision of Mrs. Carr, the swimming club, comprised of mostly Junior High students, has had a very successful year. During the fall and spring, approximately thirty members swam at the New Rochelle YMCA every Friday afternoon from four to five. A fee of $4.00 was paid for every eight sessions at the YMCA. Brenda Stevens and Tom Nichols were lifeguards for the youthful group.

"There is a harmony in Autumn, and a lustre in its sky, which thru' the Summer is not heard or seen, As if it could not be, as if it had not been!"

SHELLEY

VARSITY FOOTBALL

The 1966 Varsity Football team, under the direction of Mr. Augie Autieri, had what the record shows to be a poor season, winning only one game and losing five. However, most of the team felt that this record was not indicative of the team's true strength especially in the last part of the season.

The Pelicans placed two players, both seniors, on the ALL-SWIAC eleven, John Burnap, at offensive tackle and Bill Ioris at guard. Bill, incidentally, was picked as an unanimous selection by the coaches.

The line, which averaged out at 190 lbs. per man, was anchored by senior Tom Mannle at center. Ioris and senior Kerry Stutz filled the guard spots, while Burnap and Larry DiCarlo handled the tackle assignments. Chris Evans, a highly promising junior, and senior Joe Rella manned the ends, where they alternated with Bob Mannle and Marty Gabey. In the backfield, Phil Capossela called the signals, with Mike Kach, an ALL-SWIAC honorable mention, being a workhorse fullback. Senior Jim Capossela, and juniors Tom McMahon and George Reycraft alternated at the two halfback positions.

On defense the Pels were theoretically strong, with a massive line anchored by Burnap, Kach, and Rusty George; the team had linebacking strength in Bill Ioris, Ken Pellici, and Alex Parrish. Mark Rogers, shifted to cornerback from the offense, provided stellar play, as did safeties Bob Davis and Trip Pollard. Duane Tucker, though sidelined by a mid-season injury, was a stick-out at defensive end.

The season had some satisfying moments. The 33—6 victory over Eastchester gratified the Pels, who indeed were deserving of this triumph after the long hard work of the fall. With the coaching staff of Mr. Autieri, George McClellan, Curtis Blake, Si Roberts, Jeff Carlsten, and Richie Roberts, and some fine returning material, Pelham can, it is hoped, look forward to a return to glory.

J.V. FOOTBALL

This year the Junior Varsity Football Team, coached by Curtis Blake, compiled a record of one win, four losses, and one tie. Except for Sleepy Hollow, all of the games were close. The team's sole victory came when they played Yorktown, and the Scarsdale game ended in a tie.

Mr. Blake was appreciative of the efforts of the twenty-eight boys who were on the team for the entire season. Of this number, twenty-one boys earned their letters this year.

Other letter winners included Rusty Gaynor, Pete McCallion, Frank Hertz, James Howard, Dave Noto, Jim Mancuso, Billy Arnau, Nick Nesi, Dan Shafner and Joe Artusio.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

This year's Freshman football team, coached by Mr. Si Miller and Jeff Carlsten, had a fine turnout of freshmen and eighth graders for the squad. Although they did not win one game, the team had great spirit. The lack of a win was due to a great number of injuries which crippled the team.

Standouts in the backfield were Ronnie Lembo, Ray Perri, and Gary Lizzio. The strong play of John McCartney, John Cmejla, Greg Xiques and Randy Wickeri provided the protection for the Pelican runners. Some fine prospects are among the eighth grade material, Coach Miller reports, so a fine season is in sight for 1967.

This year, the varsity soccer team lost one game 1—0 on a goal in the last fifteen seconds, and another game by the same score on a penalty kick.

These two games reflect the soccer season as a whole. It was one of close, hard-fought games, usually ending, however, in a loss. The team's record this year was one win and eleven losses, but the season marked by the improvement of many younger players into bright prospects.

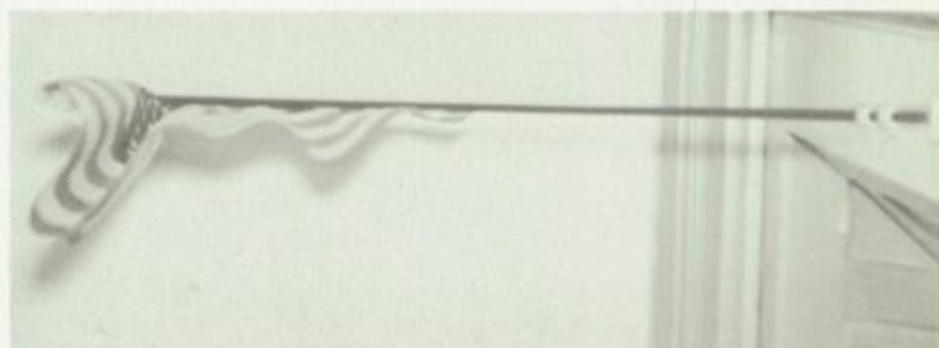

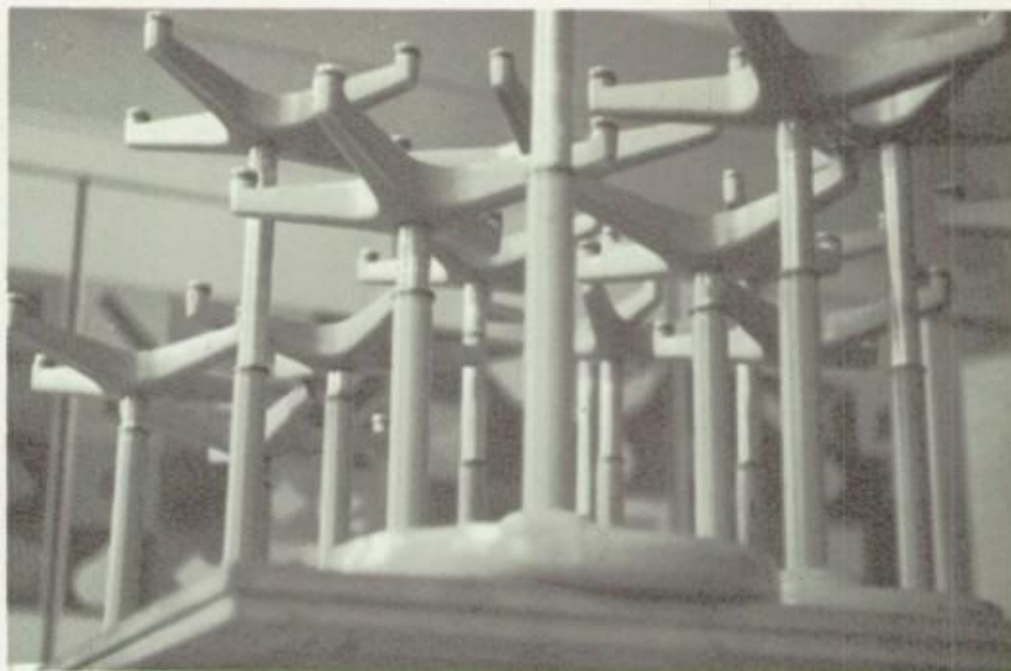

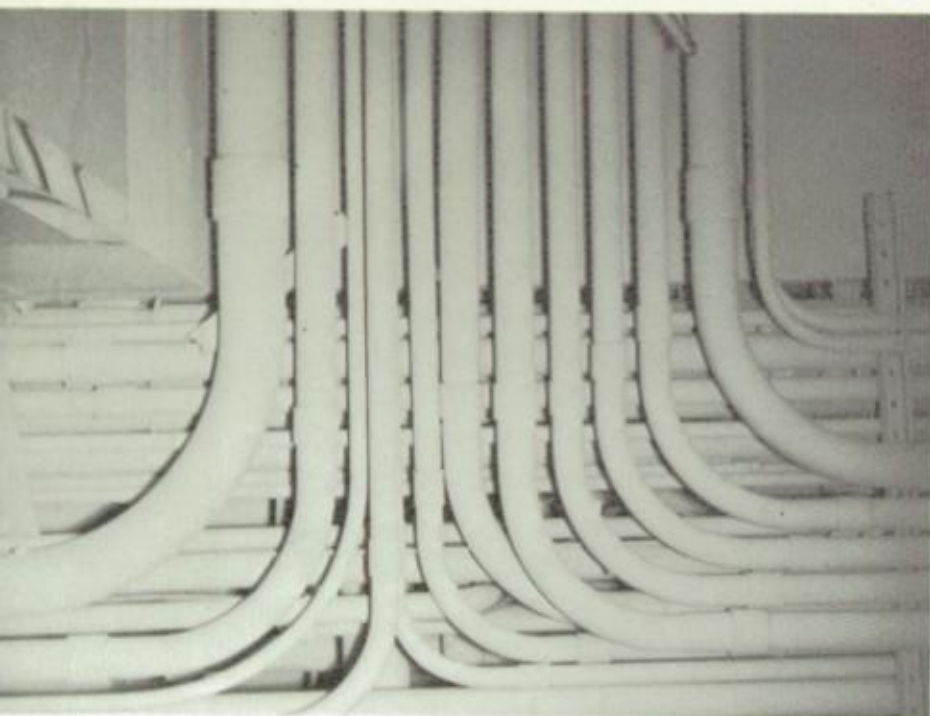

The goalies this year, Joe Gallelo and Steve Hartman, were excellent in their defense of Pelham's goal. Placed under continuous pressure because of Pelham's almost non-existent offense, both performed admirably.

Outstanding players this year included Don Hendrickson, Todd Zuzulo, Sterling Young, Ed Jarzabek, and Rick Lawler on defense; and Ted Seuss, Hugo Guarda, Tony Mosia, Paul Dorell, Rodrigo Del Pozo and John Junod on offense.

Among the brightest prospects for the future are Hens Pederson, Charles Pereira, and Bill Baumbach. All three saw action this year, and should be among the outstanding players next year.

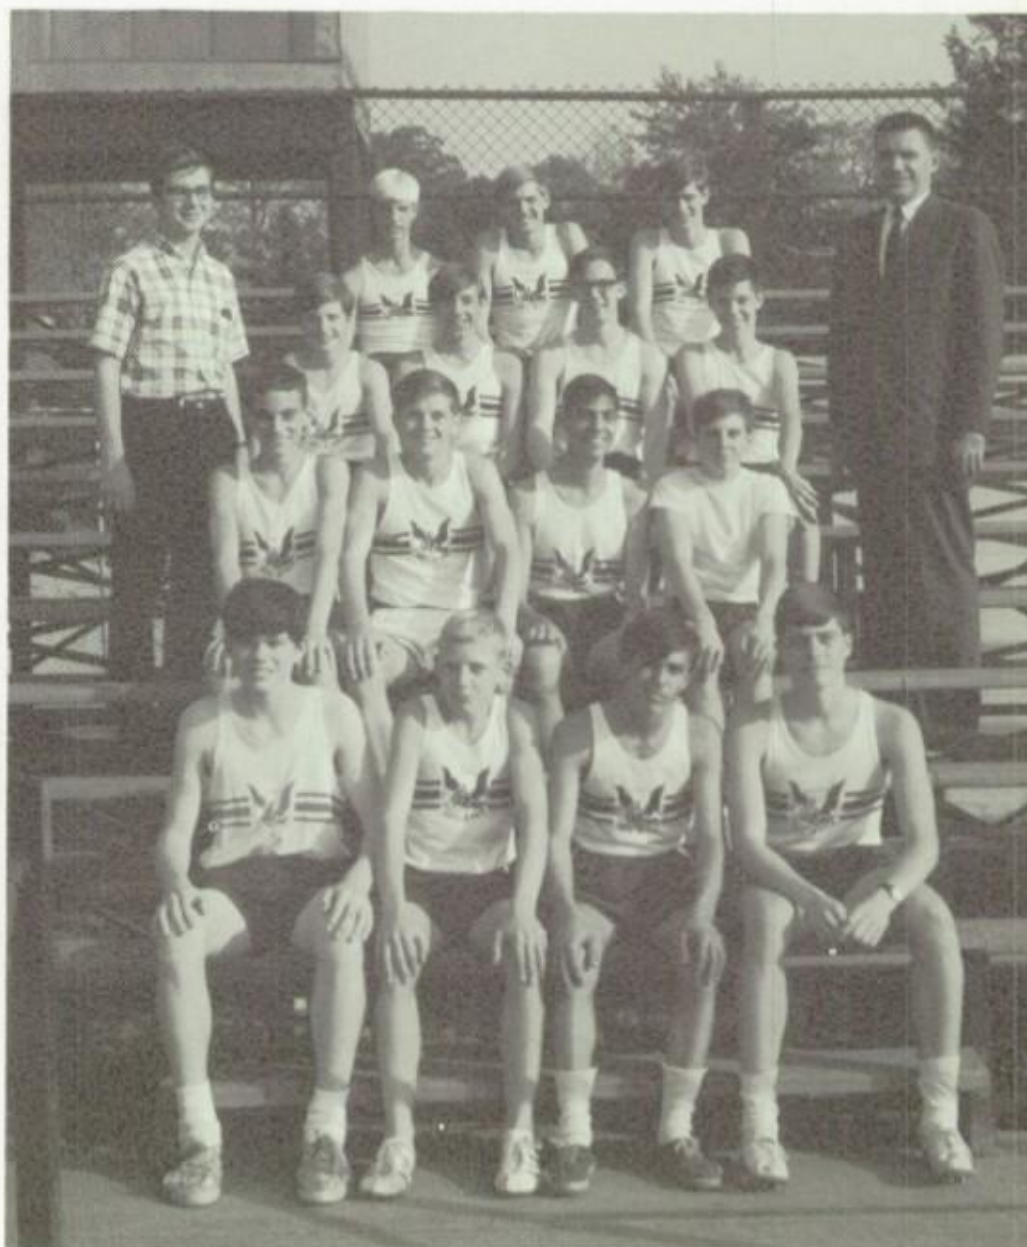

Even though the team knew that they were playing teams of superior skill and experience, the team's spirit never altered, and Coach "Budge" Huntoon expresses his pride and thanks to the team for this undaunted spirit.

CROSS COUNTRY

The long distance runners, guided by veteran mentor Mr. Vern Wehr, compiled an enviable 2—2—1 record this season, with victories over Eastchester and Rye. The team's top runner was Hank Schoeler; he was backed up by Charlie Exizian, Henrik Pedersen, John Huff, Jim Bartlett, and Tony Uliano. Schoeler was voted to the All-SWIAC team and placed fourth in SWIAC at the annual Blue Mt. meet. The team worked hard all season, as Cross Country is one of the most difficult sports to train for, and was rewarded with great improvement in several runners. With Schoeler, Huff, and Uliano lost due to their graduation, a promising and capable squad will be left to face tough competition in a rearranged league next year.

GIRLS' HOCKEY

Under the direction of Miss Marion Phillips, the Field Hockey Honor Squads had a fairly successful season.

The First Team, captained by Jeanie Pruitt, played to win. And win they did—all except one game.

With the cry of "finesse," the first team beat Scarsdale 6—0, and Bronxville 3—0. Ties were the outcome of games with Chappaqua, White Plains, and Rye. The last game of the season—and the only loss—was with Rye Neck.

Early in the season, the first team played in the Stuyvesant Field Hockey Association Play-day at the Convent of the Sacred Heart. The whole team was extremely pleased when Lisa Mazzia was named a member of the Stuyvesant Association School Girls' Hockey Team for her outstanding playing.

After the season closed, the seniors from the team were challenged by the Varsity Club and the faculty. The "game" with the boys ended in a 2—2 tie. In the Student-Faculty Game the girls were "put down" 2—1.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

This year's varsity basketball season proved to be difficult for the players and Coach Scazzero. With a late start in practicing, the Pels lost their first game to Salesian and then had two consecutive wins against Valhalla and Concordia. Then the Pels lost seven in a row before beating Eastchester at home, 56—45, and upsetting Tuckahoe away, 63—59. Their next win, after three setbacks, was a home game against Lincoln. Ending the season with a 5—12 mark, 1—9 in SWIAC, the Pels had lost five games by seven points or less.

Leading the Pels throughout the year was co-captain and All-SWIAC center Tony Pisano. In his third year playing varsity basketball, he scored 239 points and led the team in rebounding, averaging 15 points per game. Tony was well supported by senior co-captain Bill Ioris, and seniors John Huff and Bob Davis. Outstanding play was shown by juniors Bob Crimi and Tom McMahon.

Crimi was second in scoring with 133 points and third in rebounding, while Davis scored 113 points and Huff 98.

Coach Scazzero is looking forward to next year's season, with six juniors returning and some fine J.V. players moving up.

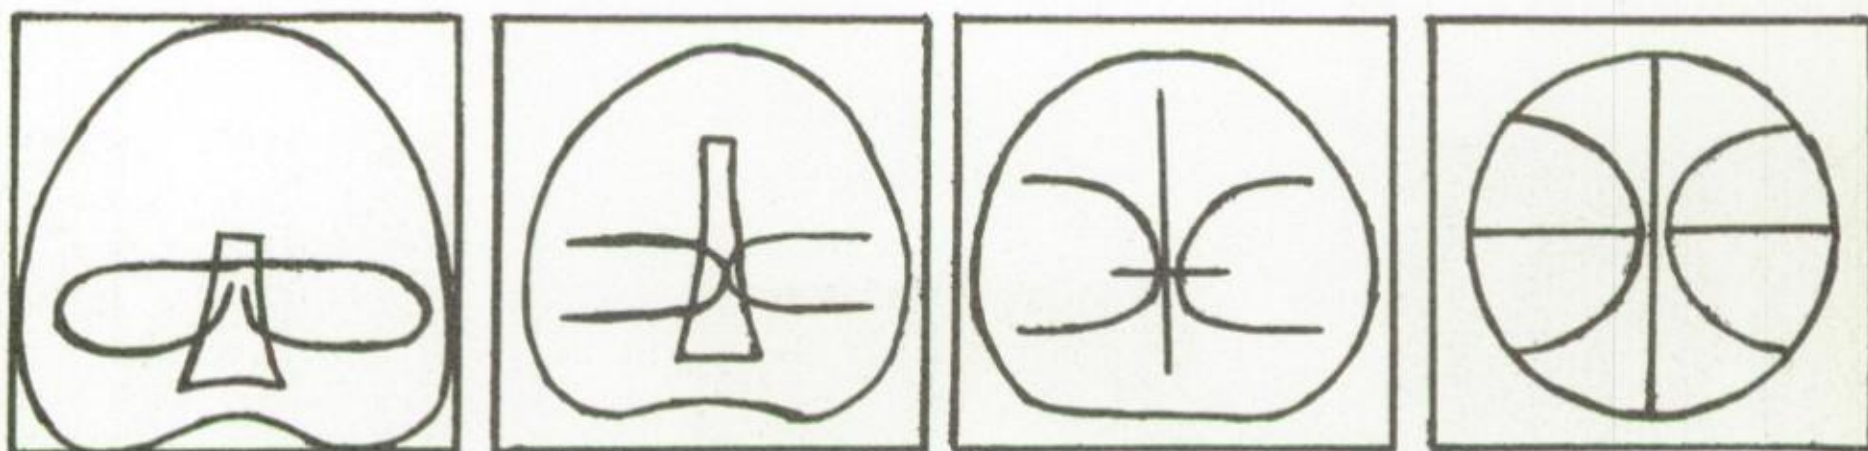

J. V. BASKETBALL

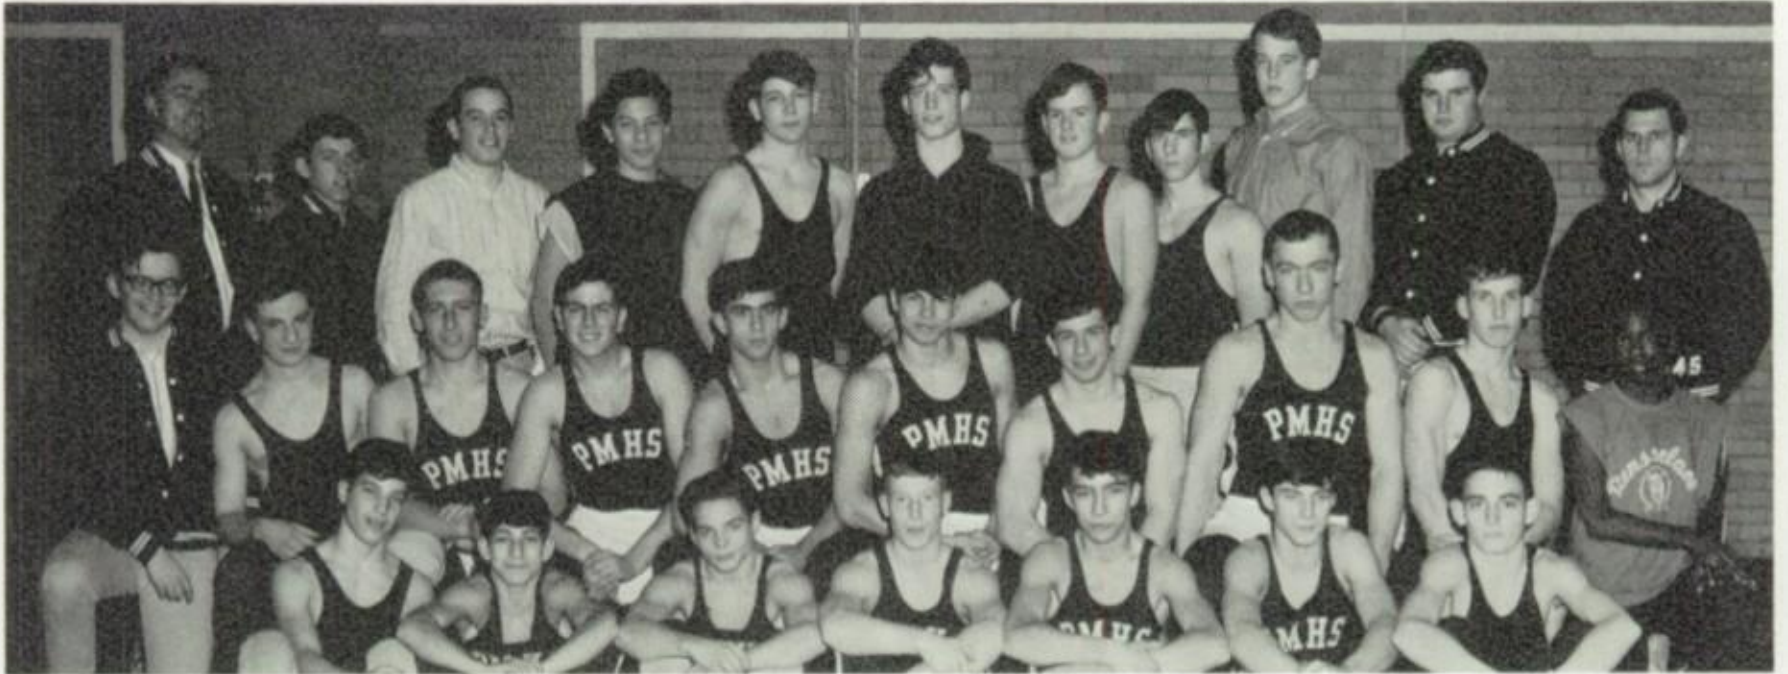

Sophomore mind-mentor Mr. Tom Annacone directed the junior Pels to a 12—5 record this season, equalling his mark of last year.

Most responsible for the Pels' twelve wins was 6'2" freshman center, Jim Long. Jim averaged almost seventeen points per game. Leading the team were co-captains Bob Pisano and John Venturini. Bob averaged ten points per game and was especially tough on defense, while John was an outstanding ball handler and a good assist man. Other members who played fine ball and will be back next year are: John McCartney, Arthur Touris, Ronnie Lembo, and Jim Palme.

WRESTLING

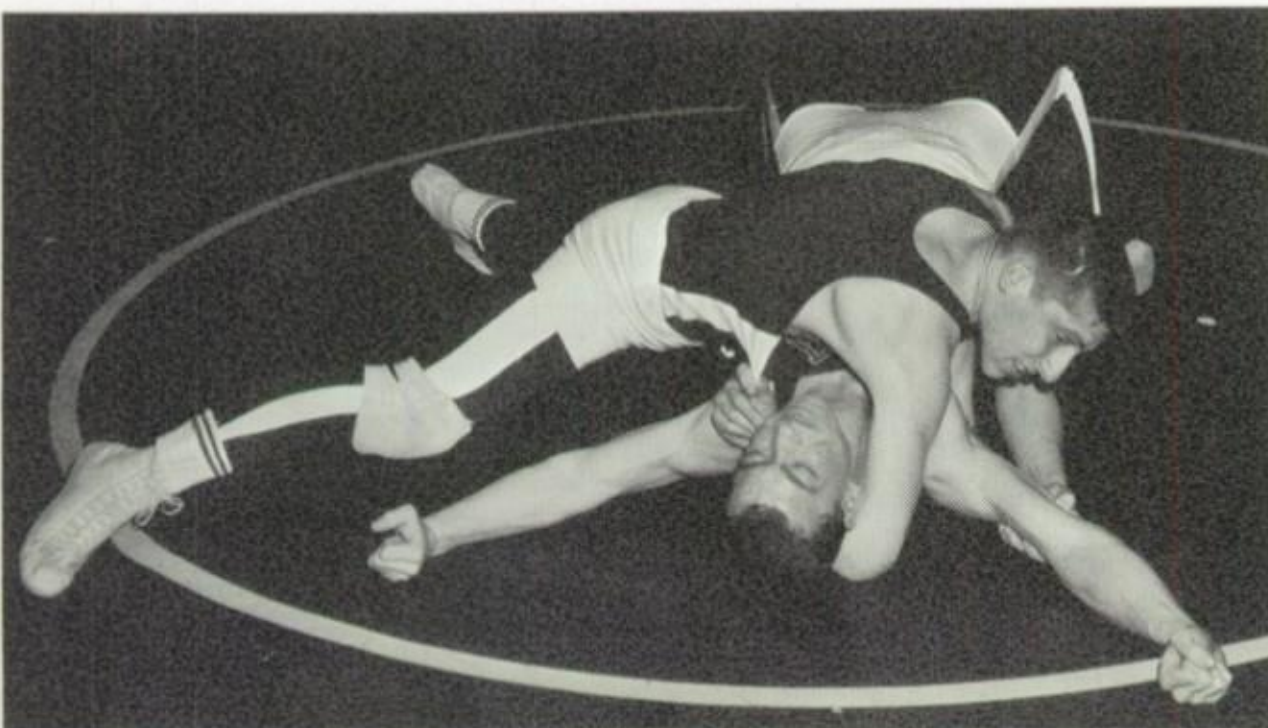

This year was the third season that our matmen were in existence. Under the able supervision of Coaches Curtis Blake and Richard Roberts, the '67 team was the finest the school had. This year's team brought the school its first wrestling trophy by winning second place in the Dobbs Ferry Invitational Tournament.

The boys started the season with a very strong team, but midseason injuries hindered the team's success. Due to a fine second string team, these injuries were not as detrimental as they might have been.

Some of the boys who did a fine job this year were: Seniors: Bob Glendening and John Burnap, both instrumental in the team's success, although they were injured; Greg Thomasian and Don DeFeo, who could be counted on during a match; Juniors: Frank Hertz and Chris Carlozzi, whose records of wins were outstanding.

This club did a fine job, but much of the credit is due to the work of Coaches Blake and Roberts.

WINTER TRACK

Mr. "Budge" Huntoon, Coach

This year, Pelham High School added Winter Track to its athletic program. The members of this team are coached by Mr. "Budge" Huntoon and have competed in a number of meets held at County Center. The members of the team are: Mike Kach, Arthur Lucy, Peter Laufer, Soren Pederson, Mark Donahue, Henrik Pederson, Charlie O'Leary, Bob McGuirl, Ted Pomeroy, Bob Ernst, and Steve Hartman.

Ski Club

The Pelham Ski Club, now in its fourth year, has become a very successful organization. There are approximately 100 members ranging from grades nine through twelve. This year's officers are Larry DiCarlo, President; Martha McCluskey, Secretary; and Peter Dietz, Treasurer.

Although the club is not school-sponsored, its business is carried on in the school with Mrs. Eileen Lynch acting as advisor. The club's trip to Hunter Mountain in January was a success; trips to Davos and Bellayre were planned. The Olympic Tow Company provides the transportation, ski instruction, rental equipment, and brunch stops for these ski enthusiasts.

Recreation Hockey

This year's Recreation Hockey team sought to overcome its inexperience as well as its strong opponents. Under Coach Nick Campanelli, the team practiced on weekends at a White Plains ice rink. David Dennis was the high scorer for the Pels, who were, nevertheless, unable to chalk up any wins against Scarsdale, Mt. Vernon, or Rye.

Girls' Gymnastics

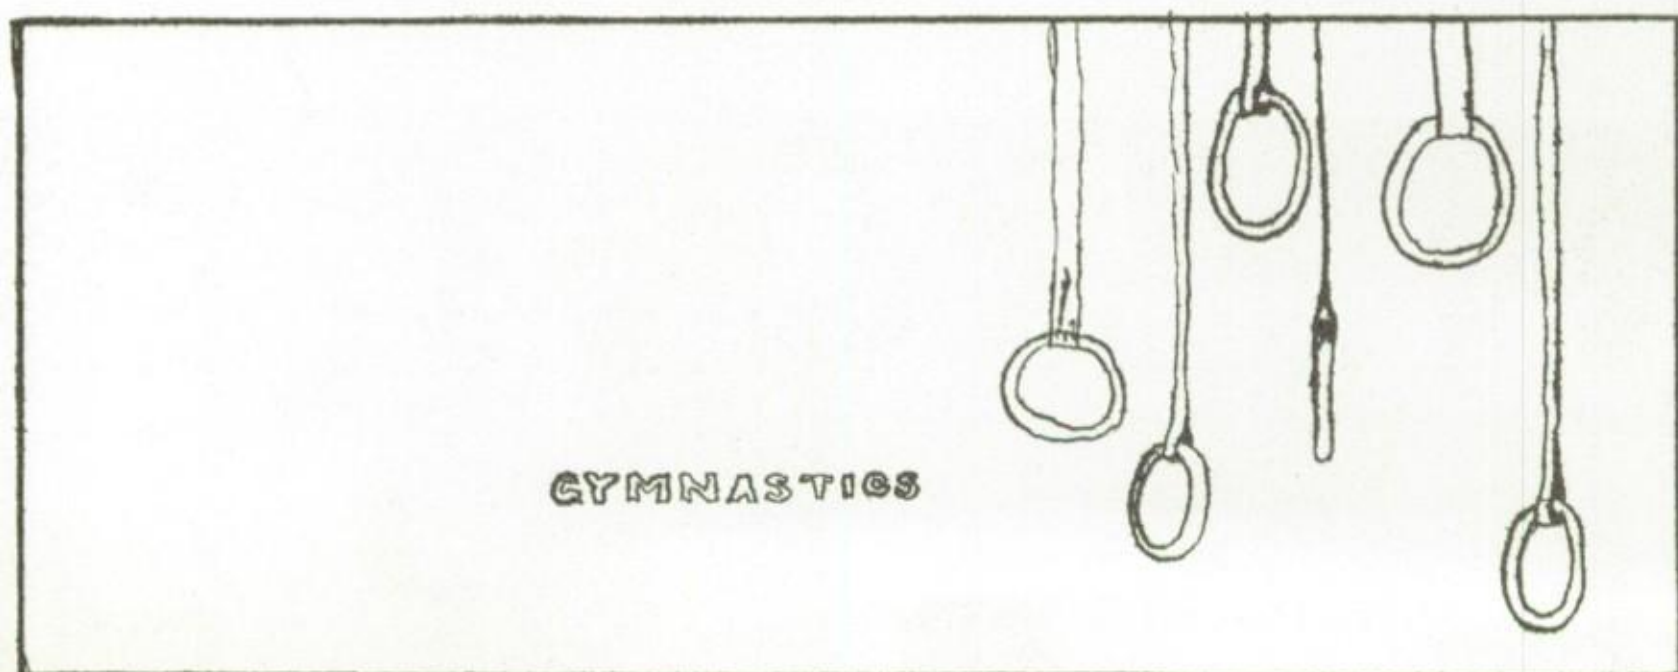

This year's gymnastics club consisted of about forty girls who met on Tuesdays under the direction of Miss Rubin. For the first time in Pelham history, competition with other schools was arranged. At meets with Rye Neck, Horace Greeley, and Mount Vernon, twelve girls performed optional routines on the uneven bars, the balance beam, the mats, and the horse. The girls who competed varied each time so that more could get experience. Among the outstanding girls were: Lisa Nanna, Margie McLellan, Phoebe Hastings, and Sue Rennau.

Boys' Gymnastics

This year the gymnastics club met once a week after school. The club was open to all boys with an interest in improving their technique on the various apparatus. The faculty advisor was Mr. Budge Huntoon who helped the boys develop various routines on the mats, parallel bars, rings, and long and side horse. The club was a great help to the beginners in learning the basic stunts and to the experienced boys in perfecting their skills.

1st Team Volleyball

VOLLEYBALL

Because of its very short season, volleyball honor squad was able to play only two games. They were played away with Rye and Scarsdale High Schools.

Although they were beaten both times, Miss Ellenbogen reports that the girls had fun, proving that it is the way you play the game that counts. Honor squad was composed of twenty-four girls in the tenth through twelfth grades. The three teams were captained by Jackie Wayne, Margie Silane, and Judy Gohlke.

1st Team Girls' Basketball

Miss Ellenbogen, Coach; P. Staubach, Capt.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Bouncing balls and pounding feet applauded the arrival of one of the most popular phases of winter sports. On Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, members of the girl's basketball club participated in intramural games, achieving and perfecting skill in basketball. After difficult deliberation, three Honor Squads were chosen. The teams spirited on to victory by the direction of Miss Ellenbogen played against Scarsdale, Bronx-vill, Rye, Chappaqua, and White Plains.

BADMINTON

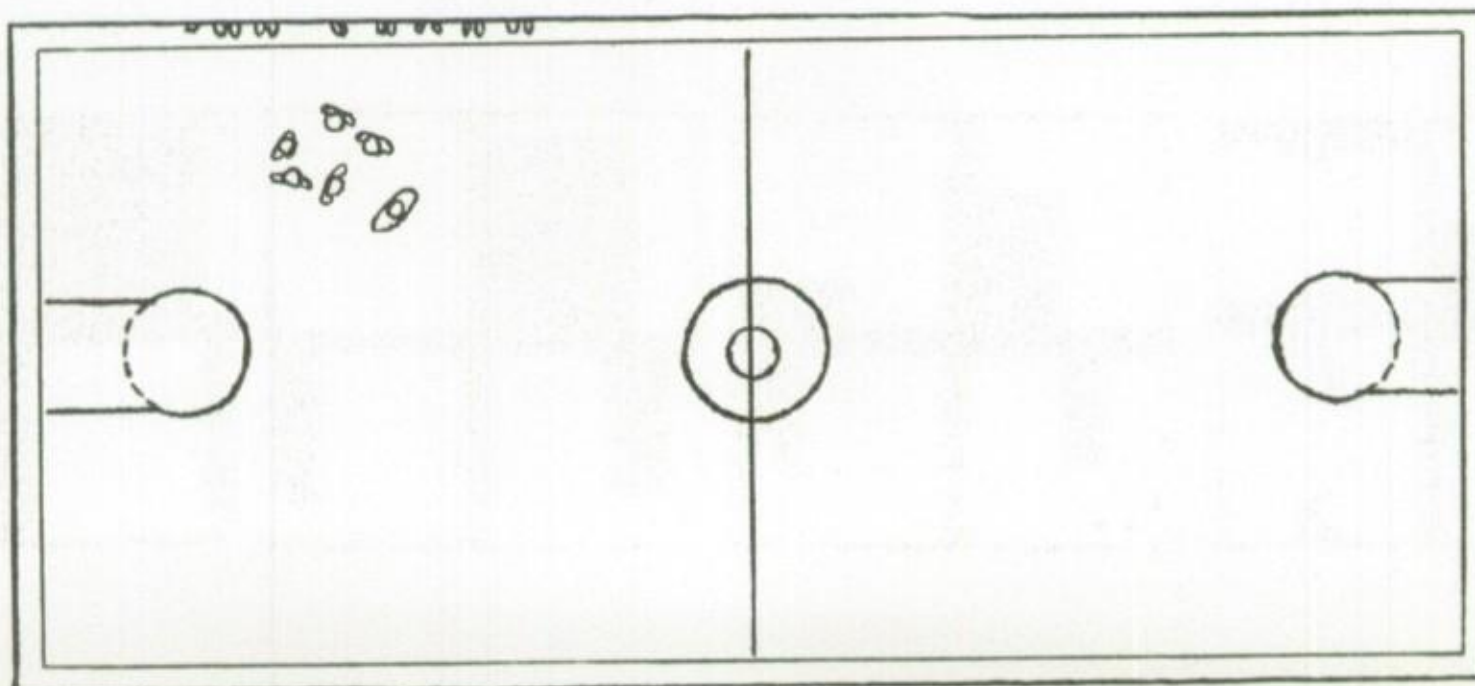

This year the badminton team was organized largely through the efforts of Ann Graziadei. During the fall, one game was played against the Rye Country Day School playday team.

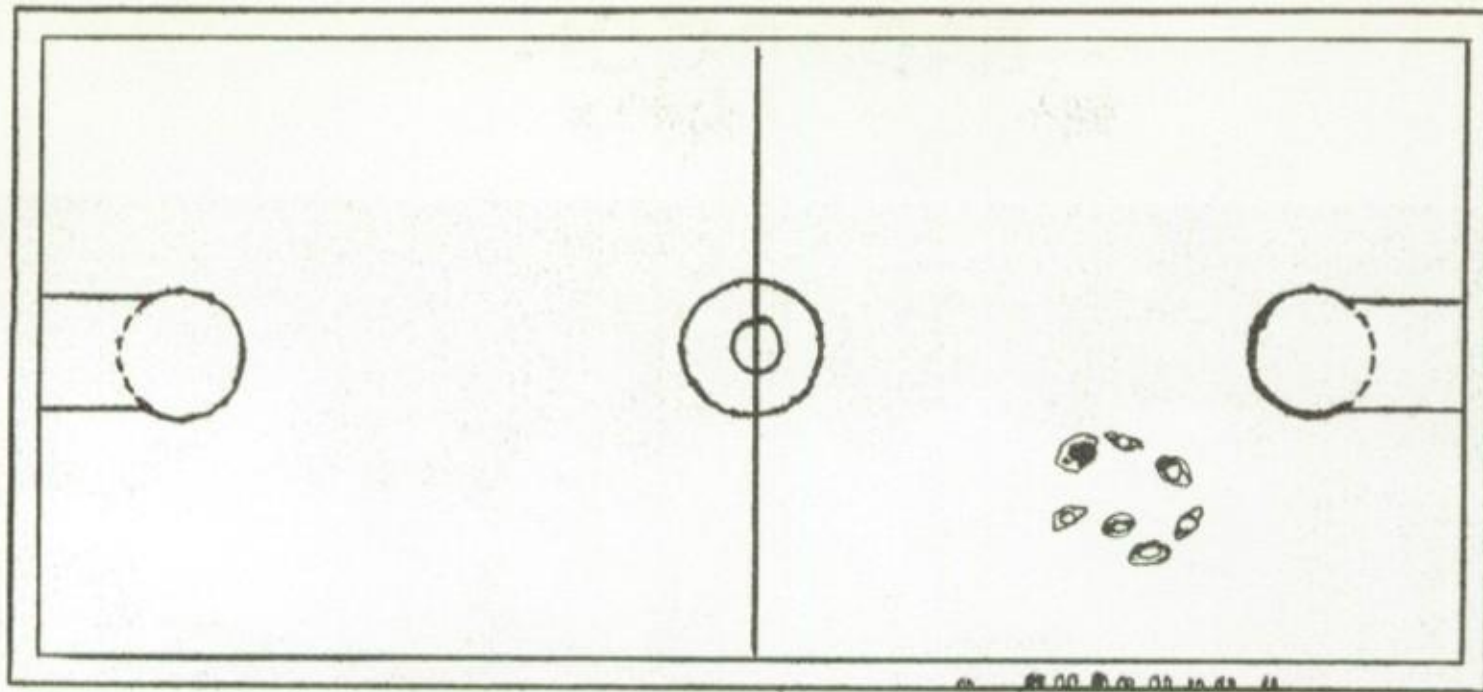

Tryouts were held to determine positions on the team. Ann Graziadei and Margie McLellan played first and second singles, while Della Jacobs and Brenda Stevens played first doubles. Mary Louise Kirchner and Andree Griffith were second doubles partners; Peggy Staubach and Margie Silane played third doubles. The fourth doubles match was played by Barbara Cornell and Kathy Laufer, the only underclassmen on the team.

Jr. Boys' Basketball Club

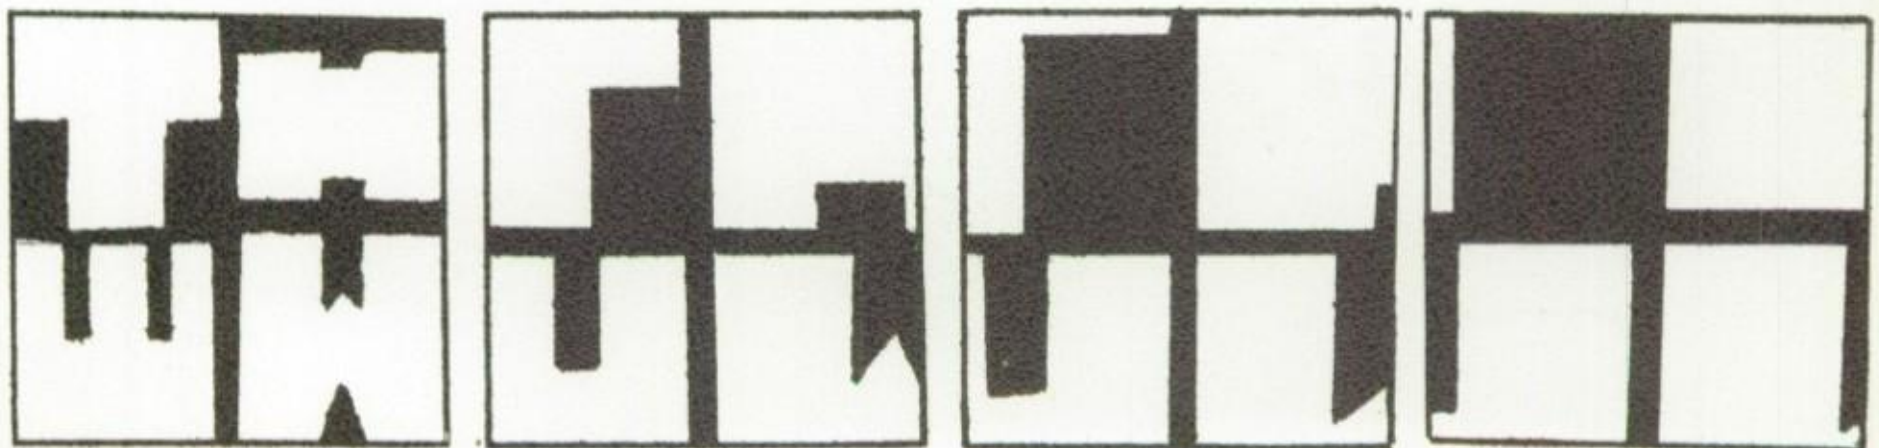

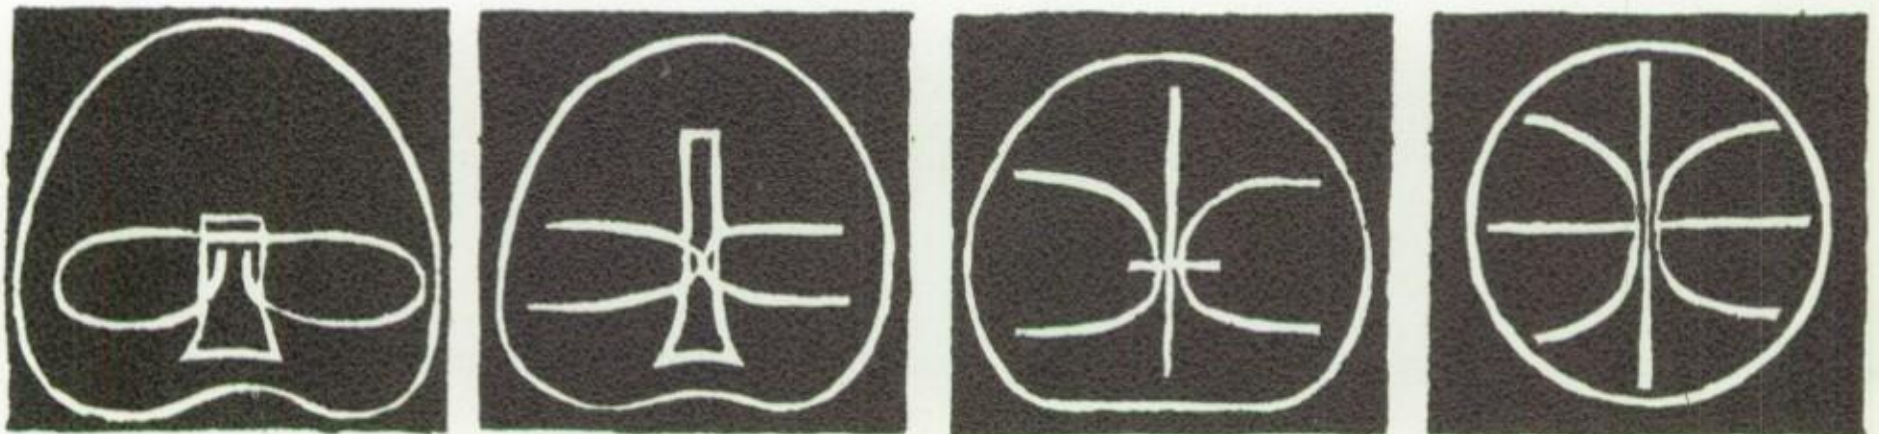

The Junior High Boys' Basketball Club is under the able supervision of Mr. August Autieri. The purpose of this club, which meets during homeroom periods on Thursday mornings, is to acquaint the boys with the rules and proper techniques of the playing of basketball.

Jr. Girls' Basketball Club

On Wednesday afternoons during the winter, shouts and squeals can be heard coming from the Jr. Girls' Gym. This is the Jr. High Girls' Basketball Club and is under the supervision of Miss Harriet Rubin. The goal of this club is to teach the girls the correct way of playing basketball.

VARSITY BASEBALL

This year's varsity baseball team is looking forward to a good season. Coach Pete Zambarnardi, in his second year as coach, has put his emphasis on a skilled defense. Pelham lost six games by two or less runs last year because of poor defense.

Coach Zambarnardi will be starting seven seniors in the spring: Trip Pollard, Bob Davis, Armand Perri, and Tony Pisano in the infield; Frank Chiusano catching, and Vin Russo, Mark Rogers, or Rich Mele in the outfield.

This year's pitchers have no varsity experience except for Tony Pisano, who has played three years of varsity ball. Juniors Tony Ianello, T. J. Nichols, and Phil Capossela will be worked hard on the mound this season.

Coach Zambarnardi is depending heavily on the batting of Bob Davis, Frank Chiusano, Vin Russo, and Tony Pisano. If all four have a good year at the plate, Pelham will be tough to beat.

Others who will see action are Joey Prisco, George Reycraft, Joe Paolercio and Nick Nesi.

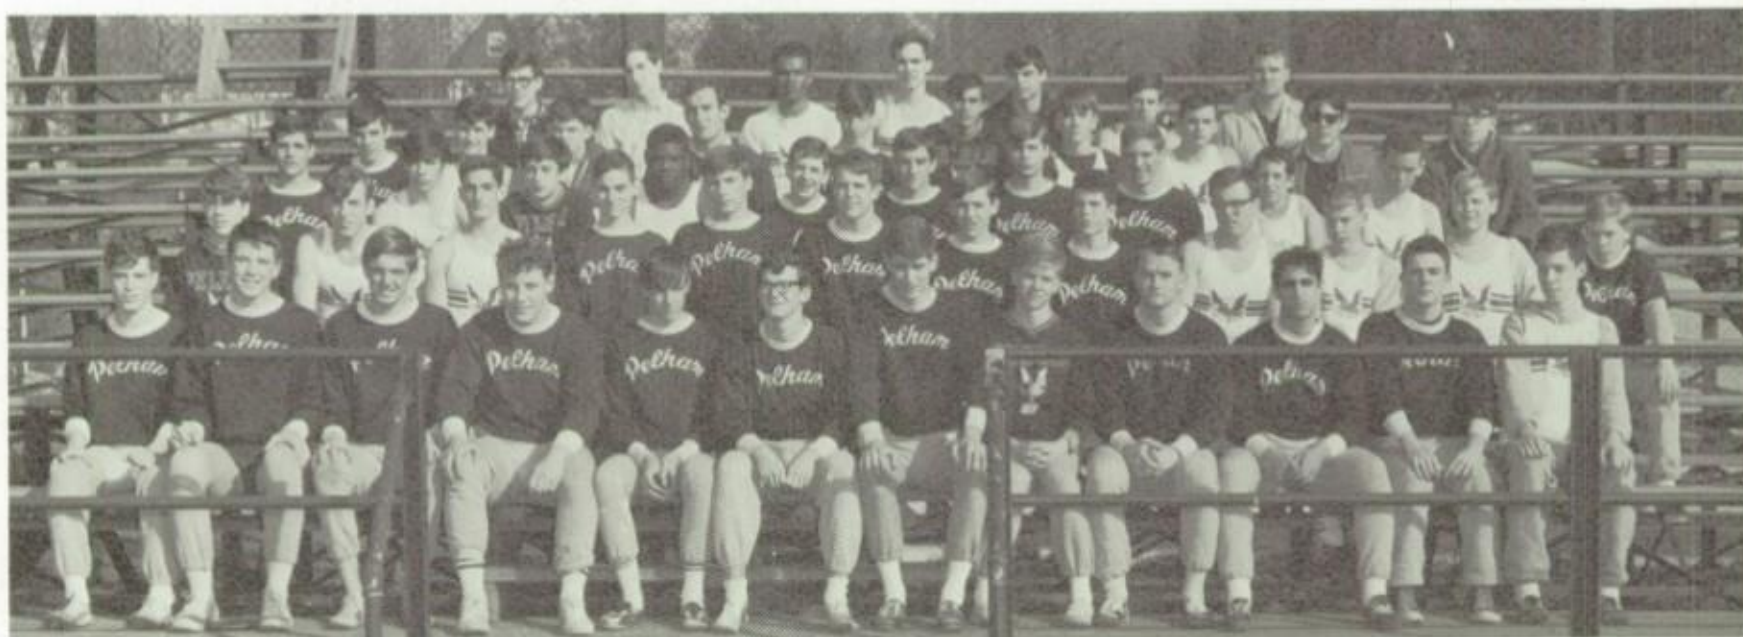

J. V. BASEBALL

GOLF

With a large turnout on the opening practice day, the prospects of the '67 golf team look good. Returning All-SWIAC champ John Huff will be backed up by fellow seniors Dave Dassler, John Junod, and John Easton, junior Don Hendrickson, and sophomore Bruce Easterbrooks.

Based again at the Pelham Country Club, this team is ready to make a bid for the SWIAC championship. Coach Charles Hughes will be assisted this year by Bob Gray, a recent Pelham graduate. With these two men providing help and encouragement, this team should make a good showing.

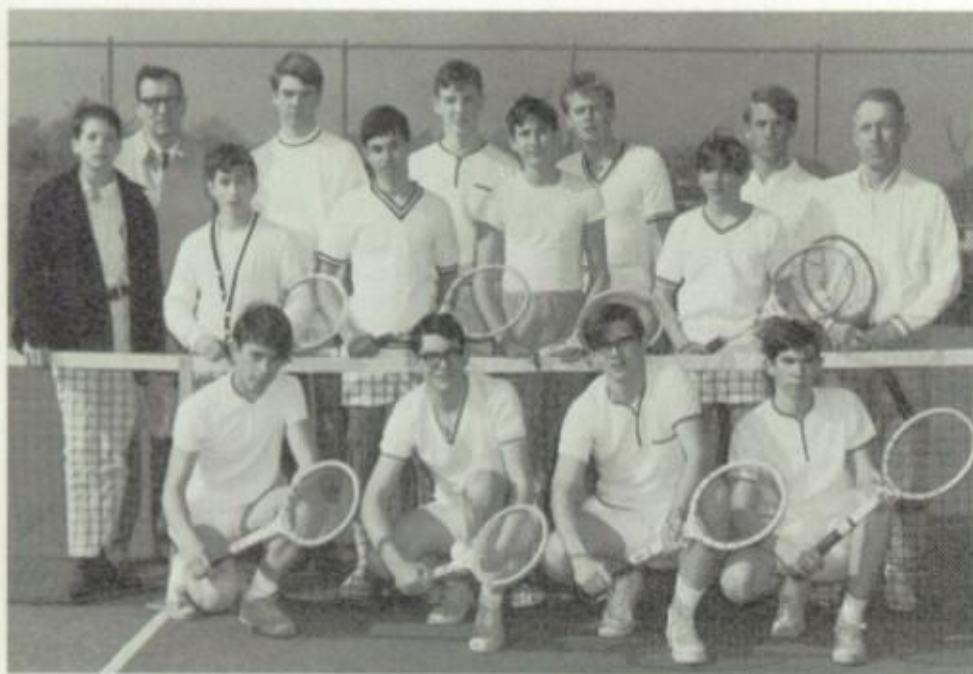

VARSITY TRACK

This year, Dale Christisons' last as coach, the Varsity Track Team hopes to give him a winning season as a farewell present.

The team expects to be strongest in the middle and long distance races with such fine runners as Hank Schoeler, Pete Laufer and Soren Pederson. Other bright spots should be the shotput and discus, with Mike Kach, John Burnap, Tom Mannle and Pete Deierlein leading the field.

The sprinters should, on the whole, be stronger than last year with Bob Ivers, Ted Pomeroy, and Dick Culleton sharing the load.

The questionable events are the broad jump, long jump, high jump, and pole vault. David Dennis is the only returning athlete with any experience in any of these events, and he is expected to do a fine job in his specialty, the pole vault.

Varsity Tennis

This year's tennis team will have a difficult time in matching the performance of last year's team. The '66 team was the SWIAC champion and rated second in the county with the unbelievable record of 19 wins and 1 loss. Four of last year's players were All-SWIAC.

The '67 squad has two of those four All-SWIAC members returning; they are Senior Jerry Quinlan and junior Ted Seuss. Other members of the team are senior Tom Welch and juniors Peter McCallion and John Derosier. As before, Mr. York will provide the coaching and "guidance" for this team. The squad will do it's best to gain the SWIAC championship again this year.

Girls' Tennis

One of the newest girls' teams is the Tennis Honor Squad. Under the leadership of Miss Bette Ellenbogen, the team is often seen on the courts early in the morning perfecting their swings and thinking of new strategy to use against such teams as Bronxville, Chappaqua, and Mount Vernon, which they played this year.

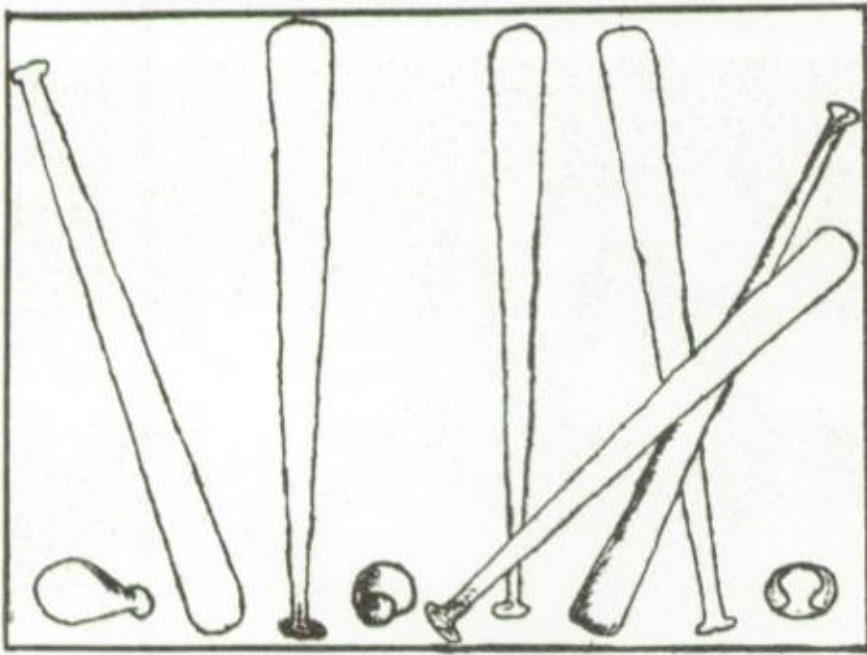

Lacrosse

This year the Lacrosse Honor Squad, under the direction of Miss Harriet Rubin, has great winning potential. The returning seniors, many of them veterans from the first team, will be the backbone of this year's team.

Games have been scheduled with Rosemary Hall, Rye Country Day, Greenwich Academy, and Rye High School. With practice, this year's season could be very successful.

Girls' Softball

1st Team Softball

Along with flowers, hay fever, and love, spring brings softball to the dusty fields of the High School. This year's team was chosen from the most outstanding players of the clubs meeting on Tuesday and Thursday. Some spectators considered the honor squad to be comparable to contenders for the Pennant.

Despite sore arms and sprained fingers, the team, coached by Mrs. Wilcox, showed outstanding skill and great enthusiasm this year for one of the most popular girls' sports clubs.
